HEALTH! HEALTH!! HEALTH!

AYE'S WORSDELL'S PILLS,
the best Family Medicine; have obtained a world-wide celebrity. Hundreds of testimonials are enclosed with each box, attesting their efficacy on the sillicated of all sages and both sexes, in every part of the world. No familystudying how to preserve their health with certainty and economy should be without

certainty and economy should be without them.

Health is undoubtedly the greatest temporal blessing. Without it ile wealth of the Indies would be insufficient to afford an hour's fleeting enjoyment, while the possession of it makes the most humble cottage the abode of contentment and comfort. Yet, while all are ready to admit this great truth, how many too often disregard its possession, till no longer theirs to enjoy. All who are suffering from indisposition, should at once try KAYR'S WORSDELL'S VEGETABLE RESTOURTIVE FILLS, WATERHED (FOR mercurial, antimonial, or other mineral VEGETABLE RESTORATIVE FILLS, warranted free from mercurial, antimonial, or other mineral substances, which have for upwards of twenty years been admitted the best family medicine, renovating and invigorating the entire system, a fine stomachie, and a mild yet efficient aperient—purifying the blood and striking at the root of disease. Thousands who have been afflicted in every possible way are daily bearing their grateful testimony to the great benefits they have received by their constant use, and who are now rejoicing in a renewed state of health, after having long despaired of ever possessing it again.

having long despaired of ever possessing it again.

KA YE'S WORSDELL'S PILLS have, since their introduction, effected an immense number of cures, and warded off a large amount of disease. The universal cause of bad health being derangement of the digestive end alimentary processes, they are peculiarly entitled to be styled the Universal Restorative and Preventive Medicine, because they never fail to rectify the most obstinate disorders, nor, taken in time, to dissipate the most threatening symptoms. Whatever the character of the symptoms or nature of the disease, a few doses will restore the tone of the system, offording instant case, and ultimately reproducing strength, cheerfulness, and the happy consciousness of perfect hoolth. The proprietor is continually receiving from various parts of the world the most graitfying assurances of the invaluable benefits they have conferred upon persons of all classes and ages, and of both sexes, who, by this simple means, have been cured of complaints to which the faculty give an endless variety of learned nums, but of which they confers them solves unable to effect the cure. A few cases will show how these celebrated pills triumph over the infinite diversity of nervous, atomachic, intestinal, bilious, and liver complaints, cutaneous eruptions, and rheumatic affections, which so fearfully afflict multitudes of our fellow-creatures. At the same time they require no deviation from ordinary habits, may be confilently taken in every emergency, without the intervention of professional advice, and will keep for any length of time in any climate between the Pole and the Equator.

Mr. M'Whay, 16, Hanley-street, Liverpool after having suffered from jaundice and an affection of the liver, was severely attacked by dropsy, and, upon application to his medical adviser, was told that his case was hopoless; but a friend advised him to try Kaye's Worsdell's Pills, and after taking two bexes was perfectly restored to health.

Mrs. M'Whay had elso suffered for twentyseven years with sore legs. After trying every remedy she could hear of, but without effect, was induced by her husband to try Kaye's Worsdell's Pills (from which he had derived such unparalleled relief). After taking two boxes one leg was completely restored, and the other very nearly so, in addition to a general improvement of her health.

Richard Goulding, of Stroud, two years ago had a cancer cut from his tongue, and ever since experienced a gradual and prinful decline, but, by taking one box of Kaye's Worsdell's Pills, was perfectly restored to health, and firmly believes they have asved his life.

Mrs. W. of Ewelme, Wallingford, writing to Mr. C. J. Venicure, says—"I believe Kaye's Pills saved my life las; summer, when I was attacked by English Cholera."

Joseph Murray, Grundy-steet, Poplar New Town, says:—"I suffered for several years from a severe bilious disorder, attended with loss of appetite and great depression of spirita, even to such a degree that I was unable to attend to any kind of business. In this state I was recommended to try your Pills and have been truly astonished at their miraculoue effects; for by their use I was in a short time restored to such a state of health and strength as I bad not enjoyed for many years, and now, thanks to your Pills, my health is completely re-established."

In Colonial Manufactured Furniture their stock is unsurpassed both as regards style and variety, and really durable, not being made as in many instances for show but for

Before enumerating the articles connected with each department, P. and W. D. consider it necessary to state that their extensive premises have undergone considerable alteration, and now form one of the most ATTRACTIVE SIGHTS in the metropolis of New South Wales.

In addition to this, they have also added an extensive factory for the manufactory of Cabinet and Upholstery work, second to none in the colony, and embracing the most efficient in the colony, and embracing the most efficient staff of artizans ever employed by one firm in this part of the globe. Bach department is under the management of first-class foremen, whose ability in their branches may be judged of from the splendid samples now exhibiting and advaning the wareroome.

P. and W. D. are determined that so far as talent and enterprise connected with the production of works of art, embraced in their business, is concerned, no efforts or pains shall be wanting on their part; having learned from past experience that the discerning public can and will appreciate an elegant and stylish article at a moderate price in preference to the that too generally prevailing common style of work.

COLONIAL SHIRT MANUFACTORY, 39 and 41, Park-street, Sydney. Fstablished 1844, Shirts made at this establishment combine the chief modern s'ructural improvements the that modern structural improvements, which consist in an accurate arrangement of the parts on the neck and shoulders, so as to ensure an easy and perfect fall of the front on the wearer, and a fit equally good, with or without a waistcoat.

It is, perhaps, not unnecessary to remark, that of all articles of dress there is none whose neatness of make and propriety of appearance.

neatness of make and propriety of appearance more intimately connect themselves with the cleanliness of habits, and external characteris cleanliness of habits, and external characteristics of respectability in the wearer, than the shirt; and that anything like slovenliness or inattention, renders it of all noints of a gentleman's costume, the most offensive to the eye. Where the shirt has not been originally well made or cut upon proper principles, it is almost impossible to induce a proper set of the front, or to prevent many unsightly appearances of a nature well understood.

The proprieter thinks it due to himself to remind the public of the beneficial changes produced in the local manufacture of this essential article of dress by the introduction at Smith's Colonial Shirt Manufactory in 1844, of those peculiar London and Pari-ian mode of cutting, which have given such unprabled of cutting, which have given such unparalleled satisfaction to the principal inhabitants of all the Australian colonies,

Gentlemen transmitting their orders (with careful attention to the published requirements) will receive in return a narticle as individually sati-factory as if a direct personal visit had been paid to the catab'ishment.

Address—WILLIAM SMITH, Proprietor, 39 and 41, Park-street. Sydney.

MITH'S Colonial Shirt Manufactory. MITH'S Colonial Shirt Manufactory. Established 1844.
Gentlemen resident in the interior who require shirts on their arrival in the mytropolis, are solicited to transmit their orders to the proprietor of the above establishment as early as possible; as the increased demand during the summer is greater than the needle labour of the colony can at the present time supply. Early notice will obviate disappointment and ficilitate the satisfactory completion of orders which the proprietor is anxious to promote.

Measurement cards sent free by post, to any angastrement evers sent ree by post, to any part of the colony, but for gentlemen pre-viously supplied from the manufactory, a reference to their former order will alone be necessary, as a registry is kept of all measure-ments and directions. ## SUMMARY OF NEWS FOR THE Great Britain and Chusan.

Sydney Morning Herald Office, Sydney Morning Herald Office,
November 19, 1853.
By the Walter Hood which sailed on the 12th ultimo, we transmitted to Europe our latest summary of Australian Nows. By the Great Britain, which is announced to sail to-day, we are glad to avail ourselves of another eligible opportunity of furnishing our European friends with a resumé of our proceedings since that

On the 11th ultimo, the session of our Local Legislature, which opened on the 10th of May, adjourned until the 6th of December next—the Select Committees then sitting, having leave to continue to sit during such adjournment. During that period of the such adjournment. During that period of the seasion, some important enactments were passed, and received, through the hands of His Excellency the Governor-General, the Royal assent. To the most important of these Acts, "The Gold Fields' Management Act," we invited attention in our last summary, as one which would be regarded with interest by all who may be desirous to emigrate to our gold fields, and as a law which reflects much crédit upon the concilistory spirit of the Select Committee from which it emanated. During the sitrings of the Council there were 37 public, and 17 private Bills assented to. 35 Select Committees were appointed, of which 25 reported. The Government introduced 31 of the Bills of the Session, namely:—The Gold Fields Management Bill, sent down May 11th; the Sydney Hamlets' Police Bill, May 11th; the Later Bill, May 11th; Prisoners' Removel Bill, May 11th; the Australian Museum Bill, May 11th; the Australian Museum Bill, May 18th; Law Pleading Bill, May 26th; Publicans' Licensing Bill, May 26th; Baggage Bill, July 26th; Unclaimed Balances Bill, August 5th; Powers of Attorney Bill (introduced by the Colonial Secretary), August 17th; Marriage Bill (introduced by the Colonial Secretary), August 17th; Marriage Bill (introduced by the Colonial Secretary), August 17th; Marriage Bill, September 21st; Sydney University Bullding Fund Bill, September 21st; Sydney University Bullding Fund Bill, September 21st; Water Police Regulation Bill, September 28th; Sydney University Bullding Fund Bill, September 21st; Water Police Regulation Bill, September 28th; Deptember 28th; Deptember 28th; Deptember 28th; Police Regulation Bill, September 28th; Police Regulation Bill, by Mr. Nichols, July 18th; Conspile, September 28th; Mr. N

Steam Navigation Company's Bill, September 8th; Australian Subscription Library Bill, Sep-tember 27th; and the Newcastle Coal and Coptember 27th; and the Newcastle Coal and Copper Company's Bill, September 28th. Mr. Martin introduced the following private bils: The Wentworth Gold Firld Company's Bill, June 7th; and the Hunter River Railway Company's Bill. Mr. Wentworth introduced Blake and Mechan's Marriage Voiding Bill, June 10th; the Melbourne, Sydney, and Adelaide Chartered Bank Bill, September 29th; Sydney Dry Dock Company's Bill, September 23td. Mr. Bilgh introduced the Bathurst Copper Mining Company's Bill, June 21st; and the Ophic Copper Mining Company's Bill, August 16th. Of Select Committees on public questions, Mr. Finch was Chairman of that on the Address. The Attorney-General—on-the the Address. Marriage Lawa Committee, Mr. Martin on the Destitute Children's Bill Committee, and on the Coins of the United Kingdom Committee; Mr. Wentworth on the New Constitution Bill, the Gold Fields' Management Bill, and the Committee on the Constitution Despatches; Mr. Allen was Chairman of the Committee on Elections and Qualifications; Mr. Cowper on the Proposed Increase to the Salaries of Government Officers; Mr. Holroyd on the Land Reserves for Public Recreations, the Quarantine Laws, and Board of Public Works; Dr. Douglass on the Defences of Port Jackson, and the Colonial Secretary on the Universal Exhibition at Paris in May 1855.

Douglass on the Defences of Port Jackson, and the Colonial Secretary on the Universal Exhibition at Paris in May 1855.

We have said, that the Gold Fields' Management Bill was one of the most important measures of the Session. We must also particularly advert to the Corporation Abolition Bill, and to the Sewerage and Water Bills, whereby Sydney is to be relieved from the empty and useless pemp of "Mayor, A'dermen, and Councillors." These measures come into operation on the 1st of January next. The consideration of the Constitutional Bill in Committee will be the chief, if not the only, business before the Council when it resumes for the despatch of business in December. Various crude suggestions have been offered; and unskilful frameworks have been offered; and unskilful frameworks have been attempted to be set up by Constitution makers during the recess; but we have not been able to recognise any improvement on Mr. Wentworth's comprehensive design. The honorable and learned member declared, that in preparing the new Constitution Bill, he had kept steadfastly in view the charters granted to the early English colonists in America, which conforred upon them a larger measure of freedom, political as well as religious, thon England or Europe then enjoyed. And in that declaration we are reminded of the eloquent Grahame's notice of the ratification of the Virginian Charter—"Thus early was planted in America that system which forms the soundest political frame wherein the spirit of liberty was ever embodied, and at once the sensest and most efficient origan by which its energies are exercised and developed. So strongly (adds the bistorien) "were the minds of Englishmon in this age imbued with those generous principles which were rapidly advancing; to a fast manhood in their native country, that wherever they settled themselves, the institutions of freedom took root, and grew up along with them." In Mr. Wentworth's Constitution Bill there is a clear distinction made between England's imperial and the colony's municipal students to matriculation was highly interesting, and altracted the attendance of a very large number of the most respectable and influential members of our community. At 12 o'clock, the Senate met for the purpose of giving the prizes to the undergratuates of the part year who were the successful candidates in the several classes, and also to adult students who had pared their examination as matriculated members of the the successful candidates in the several cirases, and also to adult students who had pa-sed their examination as matriculated members of the University. The Governor-General was conducted into the hall by the Vice-Provost, the Honorable Sir Charles Nicholson, Speaker of the Legislative Council; and, His Excellency and the members of the Senate having taken the seats assigned to them, the Vice Provost said, that the objects of the meeting were to receive the Report of the Professional Board for the past academical year; to award prizes to those of the under-graduates who had successfully passed their mitriculation examination during the present term. The Reverend Dr. Woolley, Principal of the University then read the Report, which was received with much applause. Sir Charles Nicholson's composition prize for Greek verse, the subject being a translation of the dialogue between Orlande and Adam in Shakspere's "As you like it," was then read by the author, Mr. F. H. Forshall. It is as follows:—

AD. ph 577' yw ro margi gou karne mor we,

Α. ρ. (I. Forshall. It is as follows:—

Α. μή δητ' εγώ τη πατρί σου λάτρις ποτ' ών, έσωσα θησώνρισμα μερον άργύρου φειδωλός, ώς γένοιτό μοι γηροτρόφον, ώτι πρὸς πύνυυς τάδ άμθρα μημείτ' ίσχυοι, λάθοι τ' άτίμοις ίκταθέντά που μυχοῖς. τοῦτον λάβοις ἀν' θιὸς δὶ τῆν καθ' ήμεραν ὁ τοῖς κόραξι καὶ πορών στρουθοῖς τροφήν τόνο' ἐκτρεφοι γίνοντ' ῶ' ἐστιν ἄργυρος' τὸ πῶν διδωμίτ' σοι δὶ μ' οῦν ὑπηρίτην ἐα γενίσθαι, κἐι γεριως είμ , ὑμως εἰτολμός είμι κάστ' κι Γμπεδος βία οὐ γὰρ νίφι μοι τιρπνόν ἡν ἄγκαν ποτί θιρμοῖα φύρειν αίματος πηγήν ποτοῖς οὐτ' αὐ προσείχον νοῦν ἀναίσχυντον τρώπος ποις ... του σωμα κάμενες φθίνει.

The successful candidates for scholarships and prizes were then introduced by the professors to the Vice Provost, who congratulated them on their success; and Sir Charles Nicholson then delivered an address, congratulating the Senate and the assembled meeting on the completion of the first academical year in the history of the Sydney University, as an event which could hardly fail to be suggestive of many interesting inquiries and reflections. He said, that in taking a retrospective view of the events that had occurred during the past year, the narrative was necessarily confined events that had occurred during the past year, the narrative was necessarily confined to a few though important details. The subjects with which the attention of the Senate had been occupied during the last twelve months had neither been few nor unimportant. To lay the foundation of this great edifice upon the broadest possible base—to establish a machinery which might realize the great and noble ends contemplated in its establishment, had been the Senate's earnest and constant aim. Its task had not in many respects been a light one, and it was not in the prominence of their results that the Senate claimed the acknowledgment of its services. For the full development of all the was not in the prominence of their results that the Senate claimed the acknowledgment of its services. For the full development of all the purposes of such an institution, time was an indispensable element. Such an institution must, to a great extent, and independently of external agencies, create the means for its own growth and perpetuation, by its own esoteric powers sileatly claborating, and assimilating to itself all the elements of strongth, and of an enduring form. Having reviewed at considerable length the proceedings of the last year, and adverted in warm terms to the ample and munificent endowments provided by the founders of Sydney University. Sir Charles Nicholson thus concluded:—"It has indeed been urged by those who regard with a cynical eye the nature and objects of our University that the atimulus it provides in prizes and honours is disproportionately great.—Without attempting to satisfy scruples originating in an ungenerous and hostile spirit, it may not be inappropriate to remark that the atimulus—afforded—by scholarships and other honorary rewards is likely to be beneficially felt over a much wider area than that included within the limits of these wal's. In presenting to the youth of this community generally a higher standard of scholastic training and higher incentives than these hitherts accorded to it. higher standard of scholastic training and higher incentives than those hitherto accorded to it, we think that we do not arrogate too much to ourselves in saying that we believe a superior tone will thus be given to education generally throughout the colony. That these aspirations may be fully realised will, I admir, depend greatly upon the conduct and future figure of those I am now more particularly addressing. It will only be by increasing aspirations after excellence that they will render the honors they attain no mean nor vulgar acquisition. Victory, in the contest where the number of competitors is small, may carry little weight, for success may be the consequence of our adversary's weakness rather than of our own prowess. When the contless hosts of Asia had again and again recoiled before the interpid arm of Leonidas and his heroic band, then did the Persian monarch know full well that numbers did not constitute strength. πολλοί μίν ἀνθρωποι είνε, όλίγοι δι ἀνέρες. Let us reverse the aposthegm, and let it be our aim and ambition to show that, though our number be small, there are not a few amongst us worthy of a wider field, a more arduous contest, than that which awaits us."

At the close of the Vice Provost's address, the incentives than those hitherto accorded to it.

At the close of the Vice Provost's address, the Governor-General rose and congratulated Sir Charles Nicholson, and the Professors on the successful operations of Sydney University during the first year of its existence; and amidst cordial congratulations from every side, the proceedings terminated.

We have before alluded to the rteps which were being taken for the formation of a Church of Eng and College in connexion with the University. Many difficulties were interposed, and opposition offered, to which now that all parties are united, it is useless to refer. The College is to be called St. Paul's. A subscription of £7000 has been raised. A piece of ground at the southern end of the city known as Gross Farm has been appropriated for the use of the University and its Colleges. It contains upwards of one hundred acres of which twenty are to be appropriated to the Church of England. It is intended to apply to the Legislative Council for a permanent grant of £500 per annum, as a salary for the Principal. The government is to be vested in six fellows, three of whim are to be clergy and three laymen. All minor details will have to be settled hereafter. It is proposed to make a similar grant to the Roman Catholics, when they are prepared to receive it, and it is supposed that the Presbyterians and other non-episcopal bodies will be able to form an united college, and receive the same amount of support.

been lest between the local and imperial functions. With great interest will the proceedings in Committee on the Constitution Bill, be considered.

On the 10th ultimo, terminated the first academical year of the existence (in operandi) of the University of Sydney. The ceromony of awarding prizes and acholarships, and admitting college, and receive the same amount of support.

in effecting the navigation by steam of this noble river. The dinner was given in the Chamber of the Legislative Council. His Excellency, Sir Henry Young, and all the military, naval, and civil officers stationed at Adelside were present on the occasion. In proposing the health of the Lieutenant-Governor, the Chairman very happily alluded to the zeal with which Sir Henry Young had aided in every effort to effect the successful navigation of the Murray. He reminded the company that Sir Henry Henry had had the measure at heart since his earliest arrival in the colony, when he at once foresaw all the advantages which must result from the navigation of these beautiful waters. His Excellency had now set the seal to all his former words and actions by sharing with the enterprising navigator, Captain Cadell, the risk, inconveniences, and difficulties of the first commercial trip up and down the Murray. To one or two points of advantage promised by this step the Chairman thus alluded:—"It is certain that by the navigation of the River Murray we practically annex to the province of South Australia a large tract of export-producing country. It is certain that by that step we afford to our agriculturists the means of conveying their products to the doors of the consumers, bus securing to them the best market; and I consider as certain that the navigation of the Murray is the first step in that most important object, the union of the Australian colonies. What may be the further effects of this most important movement it is difficult to conjecture; but when you look, gentlemen, at the northern boundary of New South Wales and the southern boundary of New South Wales and the southern boundary of New South Wales and the southern boundary of New South Wales and consider that between those two parallels of cauthern boundary adapted to the good and happiness of country adapted to the good and happiness of and consider that between those two parallels of latitude you have such enormous tracts of country ad speed to the good and happiness of mankind—climes and temperatures suited to the production of every thing that is essential to their well-being, comfort, and luxury; when you consider that the breadstuffs are considered the finest in the world; and when you turn your eyes to the illimitable gold fields, and consider the products of the copper and lead mines, the iron ore and coal seams—then, gen'lemen, you will admit that with combined effort these colonies can advance to any extent of prosperity. It is a proud reflection for us that we have been permitted to be in the van of this enlightened movement, and I consider that we are mainly permitted to be in the van of this enlightened movement, and I consider that we are mainly indebted for having the honour of taking the first step in it to Sir Henry Young. It is a movement that will, I trust, readly and quickly be followed by the other colonies, and if so we may hope to see realised that wish, the patriotic wish, which was expressed by the honourable and learned member for Sydney, Mr. Wentworth, who, upon a recent occasion, when he was speaking of the probabla relative positions of England and Australia, said—

May this thy last born daughter then arise

of England and Australia, said—

By this thy last born daughter then arise
To glad thy heart and greet thy parent eyes,
And A australasia float, with flag unforled,
A new Diffannia in another world.

I hope this may be the case, and I consider that the navigation of the Murray is a step in that movement of progress which I am sure all friends of Australia in Great Britain, who are movement of progress which I am sure all friends of Australia in Great Britain, who are interested in our welfare, will hail with unfeigned satisfaction."

Sir Henry Young having returned thanks for the manner in which his health had been proposed and received, thus alluded to the guest of the evening, Captain Cadell—"A dauntiess and enterprising man sits at your hospitable board, who, with the like spirit which a few years ago prompted him to profter his services for the exploration of the Amazon—a project which proved inoperative, only because in South America he did not meet with that Anglo-Saxon ardour of progress which has greeted him in South Australia. This individual, with the aid of your liberal and enlightened policy, has shown us that both the 'hour and the man' had arrived for the great work of the steam navigation of the Murray. Cautious as well as courageous, full of activity and heedless of fatigue, he first verified personal y the navigability of the river, which, up to the Darling, I had reported on in 1850, and in a more extended and adventurous voyage, in a little canvas boat, he descended the in 1850, and in a more extended and adventurous voyage, in a little canvas boat, he descended the river from Swan Hill to the sea, a distance of 1300 miles. Next emulating the example of Captain Pullen, who, ten years ago, in a small sailing vessel entered the sea-mouth, Captain Cadeli this year brought his little steamer safely through the sea-mouth; and if future experience—greater familiarity—shall prove that the unlimited exposure to the great South Occan, the heavy rollers, the shallow and shifting channel of the sea-mouth, offer no impediments to access from the sea for the future, and that this outlet may be safely and generally used, then no one the sea-mouth, offer no impediments to access from the sea for the future, and that this outlet may be safely and generally used, then no one will more rejoice than myself at a consummation so devoutly to be wished. But as the ruler of a country, bound to guard against all unnecessary risk of hife and property, it was my du'y to connect by a tramway the jetty at the river terminus, the Goolwa, with the jetty at Port Elliot, the sea-port, and to leave to all the world the option of avoiding the dangers of the sea-mouth by a portage of only seven miles, over a dead level country, and to give to sea-going vessels a place of convenient rendezous at Port Elliott for the shipping and trade of the River Murray. Gentlemen, I cannot commend to your notice the toast of Captain Cadell's health more emphatically than by expressing my belief of his intention, with your continued assistance, to make Gundagai on the Marrambidgee, and Albany on the Marray, as familiar to South Australia as he has already made the district 150 miles beyond Swan Hill; and I am sure that you will join me in the wish that his share of profit may be made to bear some due proportion to the spirit and success with which he has commenced the enterprise, and to the ortion to the spirit and success with wh sure that you will join me in the wish that his share of profit may be made to bear some due proportion to the spirit and success with which he has commenced the enterprise, and to the magnitude of the great public work he has undertaken. Gentlemen, I give you the toast of the evening—Captain Cadell's good health.

Captain Gadel', in returning thanks, thus adverted to his enterprise, and to the valuable assistance which he had received from Sir Henry Young:—"Those who know me best are well aware that my ambition pointed to the waking up of a mighty, but hitherto torpid, stream, to make it fulfil its allotted duties, as intended by the Creator of all things, and to render it subservient to the uses of mankind. How far I have been successful is not for me to say. Your kindne sthis day speaks as to the indulgent light in which you have viewed my efforts, and sincerely do I trust that the main Murray may hence forth continue to be one of the main stays of the prosperity of South Australia—that all her tilbutaries will pay tribute to us, and all her efficients may be but affluents to her coffers. I would wish to embrace this opportunity of requesting my many well-wishers, that should they hear of anything untoward taking place to any of my vessels on the tiver, not to be cast down: ca-unlites may occur, but they should not be considered as affecting the scheme; and I trust, in the end, we wil always rise superior to fate. With regard to the dating aished and enduring part which His Extilency the Lieutenant-Governor has taken in the opening up of the river, I feel myself inadequate to comment upon; but, as commander of the expedition, I would, on behulf of my officers and crews, herewith tender our conjuint thanks for his kind and afflable manner during the voyage. No private gentleman could possibly submitted to any petty annoyances. I say it in no servic spirit—I say it because it is true, that he won all our hearts on the Murray, both ashore and afloat."

on the 9th instant, the Colonial Secretary published a general abstract of the sworn returns rendered pursuant to the Act of Council, 4 Vict. The abstract of the quarter's revenue of New South Wales ending on the 30th September ultimo exhibits a; highly favorable proof of the colony's progress in material wealth. The amount of the general revenue in the third quarter of 1852 was £101,919; for the coramount of the general revenue in the third quarter of 1852 was £101,919; for the corresponding quarter of 1853 it was £100,845; showing an increase of £57,906, or 50'3 per cent. The territorial revenue exhibited still more favorable results. The third quarter of 1852 produced £40,777; the corresponding quarter of 1852 produced £40,777; the corresponding quarter of 1853, £80,790,—the increase being 72'7 per cent, or £34,013. The total receipts of the corresponding quarters in both verse, in 1852, £149,716; in 1853, £241,035,—the increase being 61'4 per cent, or £91,919. The principal heads of the general revenue, with their respective amounts, and increase on the corresponding quarter of the year 1852, were as under:

we find a d. crease of 17 per cent.

In the Territorial Revenue a very large increase is shown (the only items of decrease being those of the redemption of quit rents, and rents of government buildings). The proceeds of the last quarter's sales of land and town allotments amounted to £47,240, being an increase on the quarter of £78,535, or 153 per cent. The licences and leases to occupy Crown lands produced £20,767; an increase of nearly 8 per cent. The Church and School Estates produced about 13 per cent increase.

and occupants by the French of New Chair which forms a curro nearly concentric with the eastern coast chain of Australia, has created considerable seastion here. The French are now in possession of the Marqueass, the Society Island, the Paumotus, the Austral Islands, and the Caledonian Group. That they will before long possess themselves, the Tonga Islands it is not difficult to foresee, and thus they will be firmly posted across the Pacific from the shores of New Holland to the eastern extremity of Polynesia. We, on the other hand, although, now carrying on a large trade throughout these seas, and contemplating steam communications upon a most comprehensive scale, have not a single post to the northward of New Zealand. Our commercial and maritime operations in the Pacific are not, therefore, in a satisfactory position. A member of the local legislature has received a letter from a gentleman who has had much experience in the islands of the Corallian sea. We have been favoured with a perusal of it; and although, not agreeing with the writer in all his indignant remonstrances, we think some of his remarks are deserving of attention:—

"By the seizure of New Caledonia the French have made themselves amends for the loss of St. Domingo, the only really valuable colony they ever had. Port St. Vincent, on its west coast, is as fine a barbour as Port Jackson, and admirably situated to enable them to capture every vossel entering or leaving the ports of New South Wales.

' Now, Sir, as you are a skilful lawyer, tell me "Now, Sir, as you are a skilful lawyer, tell me if taking possession of lands roamed over by savages, by hoisting the flag and firing a salute by any one civi ized people, be not a valid claim against all other civilized countries. In 1769, Captain Cook discovered New Caledonia, lauded at Balade Harbour, on its N.E. coast, hoisted the British ensign, and took formal possession in the name of George the Third. Did it not then from that moment become part and parcel of the British territories?

"Furthermore, if you would on the re-assembling of the Council, move an address to the Governor-General for a copy of the com-

This will be their next seizure, and then think of the consequences." of the consequences.

The street improvements of Sydney, though they proceed but slowly, promise to give to our metropolis an architectural character of a high order. We recently attempted a description of the claborate ornamentation of the new Bauk of New South Wales, and also, in a late summary for England, gave the details of the plan of the new Sydney Exchange. The banking premises building, for the Commercial Banking Company in George-street, now claim our attention. As in the case of its neighbour, the Bank of New South Wales, the architect, Mr. F. H. Hilly, had to regret the confined area of the site, and he certainly deserves credit for the tact displayed in meeting a vaxatious difficulty. The space allotted for the public room was forty-four feet long, and thirty-four feet wide, and to reduce the area to the standard of classical proportions, Mr. Hilly has introduced a screen of Ionic columns, with appropriate entablature, forming a corridor eight feet wide behind them; and by a slight difference of the thickness of the wall at the south end, the figure produced is nearly a right angled one. The arrangement, as regards architectural effect, promises to be very good. It is exactly opposite the public entrance, and is justified by having been adopted in large public rooms in England by some of the room is now 44 feet long, 29 feet 4 inches wide, and 19 feet high; and as regards is relative proportions of length, width, and height, the axion that "proportion is the soul of beauty" has been carefully kept in view. In the arrangements of the minor rooms the importance of easy access has been remembered. The manager's room is within twel 5 feet of the space allotted to the public. The board room communicates with the manager's room by folding doors, and on the occasion of public meetings, both rooms can be thrown into one. The sale of Crown Lands during what is technically called the "Government's filler, in his "Practical Treatise on Bank-10 October, 1852, to the 30 h Septemb r, 1853, realized £155,508 13s. 11d. The highest sum before received by the sale of Crown Lands in this Colony in one year was in 1837, when the return of the sales showed an amount of £116,474 18s. 5d.; in 1843 as we have, on more than one occasion, reminded our European friends, the amount received from the sale of our waste lands, had dwindled down to £5311; and even during the whole of the past prosperous year of 1852 we only find £55 808 placed to the credit of the buyers of Crown Lands.

A number of new buildings are in progress in various parts of the city, but, from the cause we have just adverted to, they develop themselves but slowly.

The business of the Suprem? Court is, at pre-sent, in what may be termed a "transition" state. For several years past, and, in fact, until within the last twelve months, there had been a gradual falling off;—so much so, indeed, that oven with all the prosiness of the most prosy Council, it was frequently found impossible to spin out a decent share of business for the term. The revised by the Legislature, and that before long.

Another fertile source of litigation will be the numerous tran-fers of land, and other contracts re'ating to real property, which are being carried out in all directions—many of them in the most lozse and unbusints:-like way. The gold companies, and other bodies of commercial speculators, which the peculiarities of the times have called into existence, have already done a little towards finding work for the lawyers. But what has been done in this way is nothing to what in all probability will be done.

A matter of serious consideration among

We have alluded above to certain difficulties which employers of labour have to contend with in this colony in consequence of what must be termed the deranged state of our labour market. The subjoined list of the rates of wages which now rule in Bydney, and our agricultural and pastoral districts, will enable such of the industrious classes of the United Kingdom as may be exposed to the evils of unequal competition, (will which Malthus and his disciples blindly asserted to be civil sinherent in the principle of population) to make calculations as to the excited and industrious workman will find "a fair day's wage for a fair day's work." This list has been carefully compiled, and the results of enquiries from all parties have been impartially compared. It is to be particularly observed that the wages quoted are stated to us to be paid to good hands:—

Stone Masons, £1 is. to £1 5a, per diem, Bricklyers, £1 is. to £1 5a, ditto

Novement 12.—A residence in this district for the last ix months would have been quite sufficient to dispel the delusion of those who pertinactiously adhere to the doctrine that "New South Wales is a dry country." We certainly had our full share of rain during the winter, perhaps a larger proportion than any other district in the colony. During the last month, when we generally expect dry weather, we have had a succession of rainy days, quite sufficient to retard all our usual occupations. Since my last, two heavy thunder storms have been experienced—one on Sunday last, the other on Thursday se innight. Both were accompanied with pelting rain and hail. In the first case the torrents descended in one locality as though with the fury of a bursting water-spout, while at a little distance they did not exceed the violence of an ordinary hunder shower. Sunday's storm was more general, the lightning very vivid. at times illumining the whole firmament. Since then there has been a continuance of duil days, the rain at no time very heavy, but quite enough to make the ground soft and hoggy, rendering it almost impossible for the diggers to pursue their avocations. Our grazzers have also been longing for fine warra weather in order to commence sheep washing and shearing. The crops have had quite rain enough. To-day, however, is all that could be desired, and we may predict therefore an abundant supply of grain, for alresdy the country is beginning to assume a most luxulat appearance. I may mention that, during the whole week, the thermometer has been ranging from 55° to 66°. On Sunday, before the storm broke, it was 86°. At the moment I am writing it is 72°. This strange weather has, it would appear, been partial, for I hear that 18 miles from the spot where I am writing shearing has begun, which here, during this last week, would have been alregated in the good inventer has been inclined to pass. I am happy to hear that, under all the unfavourable circumstances of weather, these who on the creeks have not been

It is strange such indisposition should prevail, but the fact is notorious. And you too are exemplaining of crowded streets, small tenements over-peopled, and all the other accompaniments of growing population. Nor are you devoid of fears that some of those feerful opidemics from which we have been hitherto exempted may possibly intrude into your fair city; and if such be the case, with every precaution the havee may be frightful. This forms a strong reason why immigration into the interior should be assisted and encouraged. There is a moral aspect to the question, and this is all on the side of the measure we propose. None need be informed of the temptations, especially to those of a certain temperament, connected with a residence in towns to those who have nothing to employ them. In the country districts work can be asoon obtained for all who are able and willing to work, and thus the deuble bentift is accomplished, the individual is saved from much evil and made to do much good. Surely the subject need only be brought under the attention of Government to ensure something being soon done. It will require a little, perhaps at first a contiderable outlay, but it is one of those matters of such general concernment and such obvious public benefit, that the Revenue may fairly be charged with such an expenditure. It is also one of those cases where sound economy dictates such an employment of the public fands on the safe principle that "prevention is better than cure." Public health may be thus promoted, or, at any rate, disease arrested in, its progress; the teeming resources of our colony thus stand a better chance of full development; and last of all, and chief of all, crime may be redressed, and right habits all the more induced. Apropos of crime, it is a pleasing circumstance that so much attention has been of late devoted to the feasful growth of intemperance in the community. The subject is one of great difficulty, and legislation must be conducted cautiously lest the mark be overshot; but

COLONIAL CHURCH BILL. WE reprint from The Colonial Church Chronicle, for August, the Bill for enabling the Bishops, Clergy, and Laity of the Church of England in the Colonies to provide for the regulation of their affairs. We will endeavour to find room for the more important portions of the debates in both Houses in an early number. It appears strange that a Bill introduced by the Archbishop of Canterbury with the assent of the Ministry, and passed by the House of Lords without a division, should have been permitted to be thrown out in the Commons with listening to from the "farmer's friends." It was the gime of a few designing porsons, who were interested in deceiving them, to alarm our farmers with the tercors of fareign competition; and the efforts of those melancholy prophets of others, who bonestly felt the fears which their teachers only simulated. Those, however, who knew England and English farmers better, had a truer confidence in the resources of both; and they fearlessly accomplished what, to abort sighted persons, seemed a reash experiment, but what they knew to be a safe and salutary reform. Platform orators and intriguing politicians might talk of Odessa and the Baltic; but such statesmen as Sir Robert Peel, and such agriculturists as Mr. Pusey, well knew that there were harvests to be reaped at 1-me which were only stinted by an artificial system, which, under the specious name of Protection, eramped enterprise and encouraged slich. We can now appeal to the result to decide on the respective claims of the conflicting opinions. We were told that, long before July, 1854, England would be no better than "a weather-beaten island in a northern sea." Let Lord Ashburton be the commentator on the Lext of the Barl of Malmesbury.

That difficulties and hardships have been experienced by the farmers during the changes of the last few years, no one will deny. Such is always the inevitable condition of the transition from an erroneous to a true system—the process of eradicating the evil habis a and the false roling and an arrangement of price, and such a structure of the last few years, no one will deny. Such is always the inevitable condition of the transition from an erroneous to a true system—the process of the last few years, no one will deny.

slways the inevitable condition of the transition from an erroneous to a true system—the process of eradicating the evil habis and the false roliances engendered by an artificial order of things is never to be accomplished without pain. Lord Ashburton gave the fitting tone to his panegyric on British farmers when he said "My intention is not to flatter those who are entitled to this praise. It is to stimulate the backward, to shame those who asill cling to the antiquated practices of their forefathers—who, in the midst eflight, still live in darkness. What is to be the doom of those who, with our show stroke before their eyes, go on rearing bony serags of leasts that no feeding can fatten—who, with our prize implements before their eyes, do that still by hand which they could do cheaper and better by machinery—who allow the runnings from their fields to wash the goodness out of their yard into the pond that gives drink to their cattle—whose horses are half-fed, whose fields are undrined, whose oreps are unhoed, who reap as much weed as wheat? Depend upon it the days of those men are numbered. They are condemned, not by the law of man, but by the law of Gon; by that law which He has made to regulate the growth of all that has life; by that law which speaks out to them in their fields and is their woods, that the plant which stops in its growth is first covered, then stilled. The lagging farmer can no mire hope to be exempted from this doom than he can hope, at his will, to add a cabit to his stature."

It is because this class of men were but an incensiderable minority among the farmers of England that our agriculturists have passed triumphantly through their temporary difficulties; and it is because this minority itself is daily disappearing, to be replaced by worthier successors, that our agriculturists have passed triumphantly through their temporary difficulties; and it is because this minority itself is daily disappearing, to be replaced by worthier successors, that our agriculturists have passed triumphant om an erreneous to a true system—the proces f eradicating the evil habi s and the false roll

No. LAND IN AUSTRALIA. (From the Spectator.)

LAND IN AUSTRALIA.

(From the Spectator.)

AUSTRALIA has been the subject of various terrible predictions, each sufficient for the destruction of a state, and yet she has survived. The abolition of transportation, which was to have destroyed property and society, has become the very thing on which the colonists india with the utmost obstinacy; the price of land, which was to have kept out people, has not prevented the most enormous increase to population ever witnessed; that sudden growth of the people was to have been punished by starvation, yet there is probably no community upon the whole earth so amply provided even with the luxuries of life, and now we have a new prophecy, that "an Australian Gracohu." is to rise and rescue society from the agrarian law, which excludes the population from the land.

The Times describes the plan of pasture-licences as one devised by Lord Grey to evade another measure which was urged upon him for authorizing the absolute sale at a low price. The people of Australia are represented as excluded from the land, and the denizens of Canvas Town, a temporary abode hastily put up nar Melbourne, are compassionated as undergoing their peculiar hardships because they are excluded from the land by the impossibility of obtaining it. This extraordinary aggregation of circumstances is intended to create in the mind of the reader a notion, that somehow or other these pore people, "persons of small capital" are debarrel from the possession of land by the price.

Now the fact is, that the creation of a place like Canvas Town has as little to do with the price of land in Australia as the importation of Italian boys into London with the system of farm tenures in England. The persons who are collected in Canvas Town were for the most part not brought for purposes of settlement; they were attracted by the gold—that the emigration which will overflow from the gold-fields to the genuine aettlements of Australia. In those gigantic operations, Government, with its limited means and more limited ideas, can do little, except to remove obstructions, and to secure that information shall find its way to all practicable emigrants in the parent land.

Statistics of Emigration.—The annual report of the Colonial Land and Emigration Commissioners, presented to Parliament, has been printed. Since the conclusion of the war, 38 years ago, there have left this country 3,463,202 emigrants, of whom 1,701,446—more than one half—have emigrated fin the six years commencing with 1847. It seems that the average annual emigration during the last six years has been 295,581, and that the number who left the United Kingdom for for many years consisted of Irish, and in the last six years the number was about 1,313,225, in 1852 the emigration to Australia, was 87,831, of which 53,527 was spontaneous, and 31,354; of which beaver emigration has decreased. The Commissioners conclude by observing that they regard the decrease in the emigration as a proof that the labouring classes of the United Kingdom, and especially of Ireland, are in a state of unusual comfort and prospetity. It would be beyond their province to speculate on the continuance of this state, but, as far as it is possible to judge from present appearances, it is eems not unreasonable, looking at the vast contracts for public works in all parts of the continuance of this state, but, as far as it is possible to judge from present appearances, it is ee

Mo. I. Dwellings for Australia.—Within 10 minutes walk of the railway station at Staines of are to be seen to the next few days a number of dwelling, houses and other buildings which have been constructed by Mr. C. F. Bielefeld, ander a patent, for the purpose of "eining shipped under a patent, for the purpose of "eining shipped to the Australian colonies. Mr. Bielefelds" atomis for the invention of a sew preparation of papier-maché and for the application of that material to building purposes. The houses he builds—though intended to be taken to pieces—have the appearance and properties of permanent structures, and it is not a little remarkable that a composition which has bitherto been employed almost exclusively in the formation of work boxes, and other objects for indoor use, shou d be so prepared as to resist the action of the elements, and to serve as a durable substitute for bricks, mortar, and stone. The roofs of these dwellings present the appearance of plate, whilst the walls seen to be constructed of ord many stucco. The buildings are put together in separate panels, and in such a manner that a house and all its appurtenances may be set up in a few hours. The internal arrangements are worthy of all praise, light, space, and ventilation having been careful y and judiciously studied, and the various means which are ordinarily employed to ensure domestic comfort having heen brought into operation in a most effectual though simple manner. The majority of the buildings are of an unpretending character, the ornamental being made in all respects subservient to the useful; b t in order to show the extent to which Mr. Bielefeld's invention may be applied, he has constructed one house which presents to the eye every indication of an elegant villa residence, requiring only flowers and shrubs around it, and creepers climbing the walls, to give it all the charms of rural picturosqueness. The whole arran geneal of the house is such as almost to destroy the bailet' that the structure is capable of being taken to pie

The weather was very inclement, the rain falling in torrents, notwithstanding which the building was tolerably well filled. The services were continued on Sunday last, and on Monday a tea meeting closed the series. The enlargement has been made by the addition of a tennespt, giving the building a cruciform appearance, and by which means the accommodation is very nearly doubled. The cost of the work amounts to £1200, of which sum about £550 was raised whilst it was in progress; the collection at the opening services amounted to £70, and £250 was subscribed at the tea meeting on Monday—thus learing a debt of £330 to be liquidated. Every additional sitting was taken up on Monday morning, and it is in contemplation to creet galleries in order to supply the continued desire for accommodation.

The house, in point of fact, was the property of defendant's wife, for whom Benson was the trustee, but the defendant had all along exercised the sole powers of management, ostensibly in his own or his wife's right, but reslly in the character of Benson's agent. At the end of this term of one year cretain, according to the account of Mrs. Hayes and her daughters a new tenancy was entered upon, at the rate of 10s. per week, payable monthly; in such terms as to create a new tenancy for a year. Some time after this, the defendant who contended that the letting was only from month to month, sought to exact an increased rent. Houghton, consequently, resorted to the Polico Office under the old summary Ejectment act. ensuing month. Suppose Death. -Oa Wednesday last, Mr. SUDDEN DEATH.—On Wedneslay last, Mr. Charles Hughes, of Black Creek, a very old resident of Maitland and that neighbourhood, died very suddenly. Information was sent to the coroner of the death, but that officer was detained at Greeford, by the rising of the river, saveral days after the inquest on Aluce Greenaway. An inquest would have been held yesterday on Mr. Hughes, but meanwhile the noarest magistrate, Mr. Wyndham, learning the continued absence of the coroner, had held a magisterial inquiry for him. It appeared that Mr. Hughes, who, it is said, was about seventy years old, mentioned to Mra. Hughes that morning that he felt very unwell, and laud had a very curious dream, having high state of irritation from the unusual position in which he is placed, and requiring the united care of three or four men to keep hin from breaking out into a furious gallop. Grooms and horsebreakers may also be seen on saddle horses, e idently unbroken, our enting and prancing and frightening other horses. This will be continued until some serious accident occurs, and then the Act will be put in force for some weeks with great severity, and then the matter will be again forgotten until something occurs to again startle the public mind.

The Hunter River Distract.—The exports of this district for the half-year ending the 30th September amounted to £240,465, being an increase of £56,465 on the amount of the corresponding period of last year, during which the exports had also increased £51,916 over the amount of the six months ending 31st March, 1852. The quantity of wool exported allows an increase of £57,616 in value. The export of wheat was, however, only 184,491 bushels, against 202,311 bushels last year; but the money value was far greater, the proceeds being for the smaller quantity £23,442, whilst the greater quantity was only valued at £43,284; showing an enormous rise in the price of wheat. The amount of gold sent down from the Northera and Western Diggings, from the later of October 1852, to the 30th September, 1853, was 39,379 ounces. The returns show the following values of exports for 1852-3:—

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Friday Evening, November 18,
The arrival of the August mail, notwithstanding its news has been so long anticipated, must necessarily prove a source of gratification to our merchants at this particular period, owing to the olivenstances of so large a proportion of the duplicates not having yet come to the holical process of the source of the holical presently are not such, we believe, a saw at the holical presently are not such, or in any way weaken the market. The interest of the shipper be entirely lost sight of, the contrary must be their effect. Up to the latest dates, which we are in possession of, both material and labour were ruling so excessively high, as to preclude the possessibility of replenishing stocks, at the rates now current in this market, without considerable loss to the importer; so that whatever may be the extent of shipments during the next two or three mouths, not decline from precent quotations is likely to be apperienced. This remark, of ourse, applies to our more shaple articles, and not to any facey descriptions of the subject to the standard of the state are at all times subject to great fluctuations.

There has been but little specialistive budiness doing during the past week; but the operations for legitimate consumption have been sleady and somewhat extensive. The demand from the country continues very good, and, as the weather becomes more settled, will materially increase.

Every pocket of the latter, in shipping condition, has, we believe, been bought up for the Meibourse market, and, as importations for some time past have been attended with heavy loss, it is not improbable that for the next twelve months we shall experience a great searcity. The other preperties advertised for sale, this day, were postponed, there not having been sufficient time allowed to intending purchasers to view them.

The arrivals for the week, exclusive of our regular traders, are—the Royal Stewart, ship, from Southampton, with general earge; the Queen Margaret, and Duchess of Sutheriand, barque, from London, with merchandise: Vinniera, ship, from Flymouth, with general merchandise; Vinniera, ship, from Flymouth, with general merchandise; Vinniera, ship, from Flymouth, with earge of German geoda; and the Awa Thor, brig. from comprising 710 chests 228 half cheets 220 horse and 100 cases ten, 1600 puckages casele, and a small quantity of coffee, sugar, preserves, dec.

Salten Hines, &c.—We have seen a private letter, from the eminent from of Hooper and Parkinson, of London, which states that the trade is all alive, and that very good prices are being obtained for Australian salted hidds. It was expecied that the price would soon reach 1/24, per lb. Tallow was rising very much, and wool was selling well.

GOLD CIRCULAR.

Our mining intelligence for the present week contains but little matter of interest except from the Oreas and but little matter of interest except from the Oreas and its neighbourhood. We have learnt from a source that may be relied on, that the new diggings on the Buffalo Range are littley to prove all that has been expected from them. Another curious piece of information is, that large quantities of gold have lately been offered for sale on the diggings, but aithough the Commissioner and his satellites have sought high and low for the faroured spot, their researches have hitherto proved unsuccessful.

spot, their researches have hitherto proved unanecessful.

The Sydney Gold Escort arrived in town from the Orens on Saturday hast, in charge of a large amount of gold dust and spocie, having been detained one day by the unfavourable state of the roads. The return Escort starts on Monday next, the 21st lustant.

The most important event during the week has been the long oxpected fail in the rate of Exclusive on London price of gold, although in some instance, not to the extent it will do after the departure of the Great Britain, owing to the necessity of completing shipments by that vessel.

Instead of the gold market rallying this week as was anticipated, a further decline took piace, the exchange having fallen to 1 per cent, discount, and New South Wales cannot be quoted higher than £3 lis. 61, and £3 lis. 6d. for Port Phillip. A great deal of rain has fallen at the Western Digglongs, and the quantity down by Escortifs below the usual average. Sometime back, i received information of the Burrandong digglong being likely to afford a rich field, and recent advices fully bear out the report, there are not many at work, yet they are doing a good atroke, and when the ground is more broken up great results are expected.

The information received from the Ovens report that the Buffalo langes will turn out a field of great richness, the a aset locality at present is unknown, but vast numbers are laving Spring Greek and other places on the Ovens, for that place. The Sydney Escort had left with

The Great Britain, which sails to-morrow, will take about 21,000 ounces.

SYDNBY MARKETS.—FRIDAY.

The Mills —Messrs. Barker and Co.: A larger supply of wheat has come to hand during the past week than for some previous weeks, besides two rather large lots of Imported wheat. Seeing, however, that in another month the new crop will commence to arrive, the milliers are not at present anxious to purchase extensively, and consequently the prices have recorded :—from 10s to 10s 6d is now the highest figure given. Flour remains at 22f for fine, and £25 for seconds, per ton of 2000 lbs. Bran is 36 diper bushel, and very scarce. Mr. Breillat: There is no devistion from last week's prices, and no desire to speculate. Wheat may be quoted at from 10s to 12h per bushel; fine flour £27 per ton, seconds £25; bran, 36 6d per bushel; with a steady business. Messrs. Variong and Kennedy: There is no material alteration, to note since last report, except, perhaps, that wheat may be considered a shade lower. Fine flour steady at £27 per ton; bran 36 diper bushel, with a larger demand than can be supplied.

The corporation cart backs up to the hospital, the boxes of coffins are taken into them—say from three to four at a load, and they are thus taken through our streets, without even a cover to the eart, or anything covered over the coffins. Exposed to the hot sun, they are taken a long distance through our principal streets to the cemeteries. There are a large number of persons calling at the hospital to see their friends, but of course cannot be admitted as the patients mu to kept das quiet as possible. One poor old man came to the window of the infirmary to sak after his daughter, a young German girl, seventeen years of age. He was told he could not see her, but that she was getting well, and if he would come the next day he could see her. The poor old man cried with joy on hearing of his daughter being convalescent, and left with a light heart, no doubt thinking of the pleasures of "to-morrow," when he should embrace one who was sedent to him, and his sole prop in old age. He said he had only her. You can judge of my surprise, after the old man left, when the keeper of the hespital remarked, "he will heed before night, and when he comes to-morrow, he will find the Corporation have taken her off to Potter's Field, in one of those black box's." I asked the keeper why he decived the old man. His reply was, that "if he told the truth, he would have the old fellow crying about the hospital all night. Poor old man! what must be his feelings when he calls again, to find his daughter dara and buried. THE following proposal is submitted by a layman for the consideration of the Christian inhabitants of New South Wales, with the earnest hope that the present stipends of the Clergy, the highest of which under the Church Act does not exceed that of an Assis and Clerk in the Government survice, may be raised in a manner not to reflect disgrance on a country professedly Christian.

It is considered that the Church Act, 7 William IV., No. 3, may, when the Legislative Council again meets, he altered so as to enable the Governor-General and his Executive Corncil to authorise the issue from the General Revenue of stipends towards the support of Ministers of the Christian Religion in this colony, at the following rates, viz.:—

1. If there be within a reasonable distance from the Church, or temporary Church, a population of 100 adult presons, who shall sign a declaration of their desire to attend it, a sum not exceeding £200 per annum, provided that £100 ayear be paid by the parishioners.

2. If 160 adult residents, £300 per annum, provided that £150 a year be paid by the parishioners.

3. If 300 adult residents, £400 per annum,

THE above establishment has now for years been recognised as the most distinguished of its kind in the colony, but this general character does not sufficiently acquaint the public with the advantages it possesses, nor with the particular arrangements which, by the exercise of much thought in planning, and energy in carrying out, have secured its superiority. The proprietor therefore finds it essential to his interest occasionally to remind his patrons, and inform the public, of the grounds on which ho rests his claims to particular favour.

NOTICE.—The undersigned is about quite a furor for the encouragament of colonial deducation, colonial manufactures, colonial horticulture, &c.; now, if the principle be correct, and the feeling general (which none will gain-say), W. Beaumont would respectfully urge that, in common consistency, they are bound to apply the principle to the encouragement of col mial enterprise on the spot most distinguished in colonial history.

W. B. solicits public attention to the following brief statement of some of the principal features come texts with the establishment.

DE-IRABLE DISTANCE PROM SYDNEY. The distance from Sydney is five and a-half miles, and the roads are now in thorough repair, so that the ride or drive may be comfortably accomplished within an hour.

The GARDEN, which is the most extensive and delightful in the vicinity of Sydney, stretches down to the waters of the far-famed and beautiful Bay, and is bounded on either side by the fantastic description of forest scenery peculiar to the coast. The effect of this juxtaposition of the refinement of art, which the Garden presents, with the primitive grandeur by which it is surrounded, is so remarkable as to elicit exclamations of delight from even the most phlegmatic, when looking upon the scenes for the first time.

ZOOLOGY AND ORNITHOLOGY.

ZOOLOGY AND ORNITHOLOGY.

Perhaps the greatest attraction the establishment offers is the Zoological and Ornithological collection, in which will be found almost every beast and bird peculiar to the colony, as well as many imported specimens of natural history. The fact mentioned in former advertisements is becoming daily more remarkable, namely, that the newly arrived have here an opportunity of seeing in one collection, and arranged in the manner most convenient for examination, more of the animal curiosities of the colony than have been seen by many hundreds during a long residence.

Goldsmith and Jaweller, opposite the Market House, Grorge-street, begs to return his sincere thanks to his friends and the public of Sydney, and its vicinity, for the large amount of patronage they have conferred since his commencement of business, he feels much pleasure in now informing them, that he has received by late arrivals, direct from London, a choice assortiment of English and foreign gold and silver duplex, lever, and horizontal watches;
also, gold and silver chains of various patterns, diamond and fancy mourning rings, gold brooches and lockets, &c., in great variety, which he is enabled to sell at prices considerably lower than any shop in Sydney.

A. J. having engazed two first-rate London watchmakers, he is prepared to undertake the repairing of any description of watches and clocks; chronometers, repeaters, duplex, lever and Goneva watches, repaired and timed with the greatest care, and warranted f.r. twelve months: no second charge made during that period. To those of his customers who wish their own gold manufactured into any article of jewellery in its purity, he will melt the gold in their presence to convince them no deception is practised at his establishment. A large stock of colonial-made signet, wedding, and keyper rings, watch glasses, keys, spectacles.

7480 VILLA SITES

Delightfu'ly situated near St, Peter's Church, Newtown.

The unvaserted sale of the large, well choses, and very valuable block of land here brought before the public is an opportunity that should not be lost sight of by those who are desirous of securing themselves a spot at a convenient distance from the metropolis, where not only can they enjoy the quietude, retirement, and delights of a country residence, but, from the great facility offered by the omnibusers parsing nearly every hour in the day, they will be only, as it were, a few minutes' distance from the city. DOWDEN AND THRELKELD have D much pleasure in acquainting their friends and the public that the preprietor of the beautiful suburban property of Maryville, on the Newtown Road, has favoured them with instructions for the unreserved sale of the same, at the City Mart, on MONDAY, 21st instant, precisely at 11 o'clock.

As most residents of any time in Sydney precisely at 11 o'clock.

As most residents of any time in Sydney must be aware that property in the neighbourhood of St. Peter's Church, Newtown, is excelled by few spots in the suburbs of Sydney for beauty of a tuation, salubrity, and general convenience, it is unnecessary that any encomiums on the part of the suctioneers should be entered into here. The fact of some of our most respectable and wealthy colonists having adopted this locality, in preference to any other, for the erection of their mansions and offices, speaks a volume of itself.

MARYVILLE, is a valuable block of land, situate a short distance beyond St. Peter's Church, Newtown, and immediately opposite the properties of H. K. James, Esq. and F. J. King, Esq. It has been carefully subdivided by Mr. Surveyor Browning into 61 ALLOFMENTS, of convenient size for the exection of suburban retreats, a portion facing the Newtown Road, the others fronting the various roads and streets, as shown in plan now on view at the Auction Rooms.

Independ at of those who may be desirous

Rooms,
Independent of those who may be desirous of purchasing for erection of dwellings for themselves, it would be found well worth the attention of capitalists to secure a few of the allotments, and put up some of the wooden houses thereon now so casily procurable, and which, in situations like this, would always command respectable tenants and a lucrative reture.

return.

P.S.—It may be well to mention that this property is but a small distance beyond the line of railway, on the completion therefore of which it must receive an immeasurable advance. in value, besides being brought, as it were, it in value, besides being brought, as it were, in point of distance, something like the Riley now stands to the city.

As the purchaser of the first lots in each section will be allowed the opportunity of taking the remainder at the same rate, any party requiring a large block of land will be able to suit themselves.

A plan of the properties is on view at the Auction Rooms.

OWDEN AND THRELKELD have received in-tructions to sell by anction, the City Mart, on MONDAY, the 21st astant, at 11 o'clock precisely.

beautiful little Cottuge Residence in Stanley-street, just off liyele Park, in the immediate neighbourhood of the properties of David Jones, Esq., Rev. Dr. Koss, and other influential parties, and adjoining the residence of William Buyers, Esq. This Cottage has the very large frontage of 23 Cot.age has the very large frontage of 25 fest, with a considerable depth to a street at the rear. The building is of a most substantial nature, the walls being 15 inches thick, and so constructed, that if desired, at a constructively, the street of the thick, and so constructed, that if desired, at a comparatively small expense, another story could be added, to make a large family dwelling. Both in its interior and exterior parts the house has been finished in a very superior manner, and quite unlike the majority of edifices of the present day. The yard is paved and well enclosed. There is a neat porch over the front door, and the house standing a good distance back from the stroet, has afforded umple space for a very pretty flower garden. It is now let to a highly respectable tenant at the rate of £143 per annum, and can be let on a leaso at a higher rate if the purchaser wishes.

Also

An Allotment of Land adjoining the above cottage on the eastern side, and possessing a jerity of edifices of the present day. The yard is p. red and well renlosed. There is a near porch over the front door, and the house strucking a good distance back from the street, has afforded ample space for a very pretty flower garden. It is now let to a highly respectable tenant at the rate of £143 per annum, and can be let on a leaso at a higher rate if the purchaser wishes.

An Allotment of Land adjoining the above cottage on the eastern side, and possessing a frontage to Stanley-street of 16 feet, by a depth of 67 feet 9 inches to the street at the back. One of the finest sites in the neighbourhood for the erection of a private dwelling.

The perhaps hardly necessary that the auctioneers should say a word in favour of this preperty, as any one who knows Sydney is well aware that the position of this cottage and huilding allotuent is one of the most respectable, salubrious, and convenient, desirable. The magnificent view of the halbour, Nath Shore, See, can never be shut out, as on the opposite side of the street are the gardens and prounds of the University. Any one who wants a nice little cottage to live in should try and secure this property, which, if bought only as an investment, would repay a hand-nay and event of the whele outley. who wants a nice little cottage to live in should try and secure this property, which, if bought only as an investment, would repay a handsome interest for capital, with the knowledge of its improving in value every year.

A plan is on view at the rooms of the auctioneers, where cards for admission and all further particulars may be obtained.

This land has been occupied some years by the present proprietor as a cattle station and small farm. The land is of first-rate quality, it for gardens or orobards, and the distance from Mewcastle is only 10 miles; but the value of the land is placed beyond a doubt by the fact of its bing a vast coal field, which can be ascertained by intending purchases upon application to the party in charge residing on the spot, who will point out the coal cropping out of the ground

The present high price of fuel in Sydney, coupled with the increasing demand for the numerous steamers now running, and about to be laid on, to our various ports, warrants the establishment of a company upon a secure forting, for working these mines; and by means of flat bottom vessels conveying the coals to Newcastle for shipment, which could be frected at a cheaper rate than, as at present, uous river, influenced by tides and winds.

ITES auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on TUESDAY, 22nd November, at half-past 2 o'clock r M.

The beautiful, fast seiling, and clipper-schooner SEA SERPENT, registering 58 tons, but carrying a very large cargo.

She is almost a new vessel, having been built in October, 1852, is in thorough good repair, and remarkably well found in anchors, chains, sails, and gear, of all kinds.

She is coppered and copper-fastened; her sailing qualities are remarkable, making extraordinary passages since she has been in the Moreton Bay, Wide Bay, and Clarence River trades, and has established for herself in those localities an enviable reputation.

Her cabin accommodation is excellent; she is a craft of the size most convenient for the Newcastle trade, being below the tonnage which excludes vessels from the shoot. Her inventory of stores, sails, standing and running rigging, is very complete and large.

**EXALT IT IS almost needless to ask the notice of nautical people to be given to this splendid little vessel—she is too well known to need comment. That a little fortune is to be made by her jurchaser, should he continue her in the northern coasting trade, there can be no doubt.

THE FINE FAST - SAILING BRIG SARAH BELL, registering 145 tons, but able to carry a dead weight of 250 tons.

This fine vessel was thoroughly renaired in 1813, and stands A1 at Lloyds for nine years. She sails remarkably fast; and, being fully supplied with stores of all kinds, she is ready for sea at a moment's notice.

From being enabled to go right up to the whatves at Melbourne, she is admirably adapted for the trade with that port, or for any of our cossing trades. She has a great advantage in being able to shift without ballast, rendering her thereby especially valuable as a collier. She is perfectly tight, sound, and stanch; as a proof of which it may be remarked that, in the Mauritius trade, in which she was some time engaged, she always delivered her cargoes in first rate condition.

The owner, or the captain on board, will afford every information respecting her on application. She is lying off the Circular Quay, in the Cove.

IN ONE LOT,
at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on PRIDAY, the 25th day of November next, at 11 o'clock, for half-past 11 precisely.

So In calling the notice of capitalists and of the public generally, whether in New South Wales, Victoria, Van Diemen's Land or South Australia, to the sale of this magnificent freshold, Mr. Mort is compelled to trust to the well-known character of the property to tell its own ctory, as the limits of an advertisement preclude the possibility of going into minute particulars; it may be well, however, to state that the buildings are of the most substantial character, have slated roofs, and are in the best order, and that the present lease terminates at the end of June next, when the several premises can be let to yield A PRINCELY INCOMF.

Mr. Mort would carnestly impress upon the public the vast importance of this sale, looking to the impossibility of putting up a building of the elegant and complete character of the Victoria Theatre, except at an enormous cost; and considering further the fact, that it is the only the elegant and complete character of the Victoria Theatre, except at an enormous cost; and considering further the fact, that it is the only place in the colonies where the great and glozious masters of the drama can be worthily represented, where musical entertriaments can be properly given, or indeed where the citizens can properly assenble for any public purpose. Where would have been our civic feasts, our fancy balls, our grand concerts, but for the scope and accommodation afforded by this costly building? Where could our public speakers have charmed us with their oratory, our citizens have ment in patriotic cause, had it not been for the commodious shelter of this splendin pile? In short, it is a building which cannot be dispensed with, and one which the proprietor can demand his own return for, be it ever so extravagant.

proprietor can demand his own roturn for, be it ever as extravagant.

The Victoria Hotel is an adjunct of no mean importance, and would let for an enormous rental. The premises occupied as the London Mart, if conducted by a skilful restau act, would also bring in a very large amount of profit. These, with the Victoria The-tre, would certainly yield some thousands a year.

What a splendful chance is this for the investment of capital! What more safe, more certain, or more profitable; and what a glorious opportunity for a few lovers of the Drama to realize a at 12 o'clock precisely.

THE ROYAL HOTEL, Auburn-street.

Goulburn, standing upon one acre of ground,
and situate about the centre of Auburn-street, with a frontage of 132 feet by a depth of 330

This splendid edifice is most substantially bui't of brick, the outside and centre walls of eighteen inch work, the ground floor walls of fourteen inches, and the upper floor partition walls of nine inch work. The front and end walls are stucced on the outside, and the back wall is neatly pointed with sunsed arches.

wall is neatly pointed with guaged arches.

The Hotel contains in the basement extensive and convenient cellars beneath the bar and back parlour, the walls of which are of stone two feet thick, and the accommodation is most complete, comprising as follows —

On the ground floor—entrance hall with commodious cedar staircase, front and back parlour, bar, tap-room, three bedrooms, and pantry.

commodious ordar staticase, front and back parlour, bar, tap-room, three bedrooms, and pantry.

On the first floor—three large parlours, two of which open into each other, with large folding doors, forming a splendid dining room 36 feet by 17 feet; also hall and passage, the latter running along the whole building, and aff-rding access into five bed rooms.

The parlours in the upper floor are all fitted with French lights, and connected with a balcony sunning along the front of the building, secured with neat scroll cast iron balusters, and supported on cast iron cantalevers.

The whole of the cedar work throughout the Hotel is equal to Spanish mahogany, and finished in a superior style—panelled and varnished. The rooms throughout are 12 feet high; and the parlour, bar, hall, lobby, and staircase oil-panuted, and finished with cornices and centres; and the principal rooms throughout fitted with register stoves.

The staircase, of cedar, is a rarg piece of workmanship, beautifully finished.

Mr. A. Polack believes there will be no occasion for him to comment at all on the advantages of these valuable properties, now offered to the competition of the capitalists and monied men of New South Wales.

To strangers and capitalists recently arrived in the colony he would simply say—do not trust to your own judgment alone, but rather enquire of those knowing the localities, situation, and value of the properties now submitted to public auction, and by those means acquaint yourselves with the usual local advantages these investments offer.

Titles are really good, and terms very liberal.
